

Ciattarelli Endorses Small Business Owner Darius Mayfield in 12th Congressional District

Mayfield vows to defeat Rep. Coleman & pledges to put America First

Hillsborough, NJ – Small business owner and philanthropist Darius Mayfield announced that he has received the endorsement of Jack Ciattarelli in his race to defeat Representative Bonnie Watson Coleman in New Jersey’s 12th Congressional District.

“As a lifelong New Jerseyan and successful small business owner, Darius Mayfield understands the struggle that so many Americans are facing with rising crime in our neighborhoods and record high inflation making our daily lives more expensive. He understands the danger in the extreme progressive changes made to the public school curriculum and what is being taught to our children. We need to get back to basics. We cannot afford another two years of a failed national agenda. Darius will work to unify our communities, protect our kids and promote economic growth. For these reasons and more, I am happy to endorse the best candidate in this race – Darius Mayfield for Congress.”

“Jack Ciattarelli has proven himself to be the future leader of our party. He worked tirelessly last year to support every Republican up and down the ballot. I am thrilled to have his full faith, trust and confidence. Together, with the help of so many others, we will continue to expand our party and ultimately defeat Congresswoman Bonnie Watson Coleman in November,” Mayfield said.
